PNEUMATOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY

CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY 3

Theological anthropology concerns human beings and their relationship with God. It addresses humans as created in the image of God, with a special qualitative relation to God compared to other species. Sin is the corruption of the relation, indicating that humans are constitutionally opposed to God. Theological anthropology also deals with the restoration of the human relationship with God through the application of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Pneumatology concerns the person and work of the Holy Spirit, who indwells, empowers and gifts believers.

The Lecturer – Rev. Dr Chong Siaw Fung
Dr. Chong Siaw Fung is trained in the fields of education (University of Malaya) and human resource development (PhD, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak) and also in theological studies specialising in the Old Testament (Princeton Theological Seminary, New Jersey, USA). He is the Principal of Seminari Theoloji Malaysia.

CHRISTIANITY, CULTURE AND SOCIETY

Rather than solving or answering vocation-specific problems, this course aims to initiate students into serious processes of thought as guided by the following three objectives:

A. Contextual: to develop sensitivity for key issues that concern life in contemporary Singapore by identifying and analysing case studies taken from the local context.

B. Integrative: to integrate theological studies and vocational life by offering basic frameworks of thought for analysing pertinent issues and phenomena in our local culture and society that impinge upon life in general.

C. Theological: to facilitate socio-cultural analysis that is guided by biblical and theological reflection.

The Lecturer – Mr Quek Tze Ming

He is the Lecturer in New Testament at BGST. After leaving legal practice, he served in student ministry with the Fellowship of Evangelical Students (Singapore). He then commenced theological studies, receiving a DipCS from BGST, an MDiv and a ThM from Regent College. He is presently a PhD candidate in New Testament Studies at the University of Cambridge. LIFE OF KINGS

SPIRITUALITY OF KING DAVID

This course covers the 'Golden Age' of Israel's monarchy with a special focus on the issues and challenges faced by king David as charismatic king, soldier, songwriter, shepherd, sinner, a man described by the LORD as one 'whose heart beats to my heart... who will do what I tell him'. As David is studied, it is obvious that he was a leader whose faith in God was unshaken even in the midst of difficult times. David was human and had faults and there are many spiritual lessons which we can learn from his life. David erred and failed, but his repentance and humility allowed him to subject himself to God's judgment and restoration.

To provide student with spiritual insights into personal spirituality, discernment when making difficult decisions in the pastoral ministry, hence applying biblical principles to issues confronting current Christian ministry. The student shall be better equipped to live before God in vulnerability, dependability and integrity. The student will journey through some of the more difficult circumstances of David's life and will gain learning experiences vicariously. At the end of it to avoid the mistakes made by David and one who bounced back as the man after God's heart.

SPIRITUAL FRIENDSHIP

In John 15, Jesus makes an incredible statement. He calls His disciples friends. Jesus is their Lord but now they discover He is also their friend. Then He tells His disciples that they are to love each other as He has loved them. Jesus's disciples are to love one another in sacrificial friendship. We are meant to follow Jesus in the company of friends. We live in a very lonely world. Unfortunately the church is not any better. Christians are friendly but we often don't find authentic friendship in our churches.

This course will seek to do a few things: First, we need to understand what actually is spiritual friendship. Next, we need to understand why it is so crucial that we follow Jesus in the context of Christian friendship. Then we will look at various ways we can actually experience spiritual friendship. We will also see that friendship is a key way we reach out to those outside God's community.

• • The Lecturer – Rev Dr Tan Soo Inn

- • The director of Graceworks, a ministry committed to promoting spiritual friendship in church and society. He has a BDS from the University of Singapore, a ThM (NT) from Regent College, and a DMin from Fuller seminary. He has served as the lead pastor of two churches and as the executive leader of a major para-church ministry. His passions include connecting the Word of God to the struggles of daily life, and the mentoring of emerging leaders. He wants to do fresh thinking on the meaning of discipleship and what it means for the 21st century.
